ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

The Artificial Intelligence in Business program is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills to obtain jobs in the areas of data science, data analysis, data mining, text mining, business intelligence, machine learning, deep learning, natural language processing, and artificial intelligence research. Students will learn how to make business decisions using different machine learning algorithms and deep learning prediction models as well as to how to use natural language processing to better understand customer intentions through sentiment analysis and by gathering market intelligence.

Artificial Intelligence webpage (https://www.mtsac.edu/cis/online-certificate/ai.html)